FROM THE PASTOR

Dear Parishioners:

This past weekend St. Andrew Church opened for public Sunday Masses for the first time since March 22. How wonderful it was to celebrate Sunday Mass with priests and people together! Of course, attendance was small, as it should be and as I expected it to be. Our doors were wide open so no one had to touch the door handles to enter. There were approximately 60 persons in attendance at the 4:30 p.m. vigil Mass; about 85 were at the 7:30 a.m. Mass, 93 at the 9:15 a.m. Mass, and 115 at the 11:00 a.m. Mass. (These numbers do not include the chipmunks and squirrels that came into the church through the open doors!) Everyone wore masks and sat in the designated pews. Everyone observed social distancing. Nobody complained about it. Surfaces were sanitized between Masses. Everything went smoothly. I was very pleased and relieved, and I hope this pattern continues in the weeks ahead. Those who are at higher risk for illness should continue to be very cautious about returning to Mass--or any gathering for that matter. But I believe that little by little, more and more will be coming to church and our congregation will swell.

I am happy to inform you that our RCIA catechumens and candidates will at long last receive the Sacraments of Initiation next weekend. This usually takes place at the Easter Vigil, but of course, it had to be postponed because no public Masses were allowed at that time. I look forward to welcoming these eight new Catholics to the communion of the Church.

While we have successfully resumed public Masses at St. Andrew, we are not yet resuming other in-person parish activities or group meetings or opening other facilities like the parish hall or the Bryce Eck Center. That will come in due time. We will resume regular Saturday Confessions next Saturday (June 13) from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. There are some modifications, however. Confessions will take place in the Chapel (because the confessional is too confining for proper social distancing). Only one priest will be available. Those waiting in line must remain 6 feet from others in the line. This will be one more small step in the direction of normal.

This past week has been eventful in our community and our nation, as protests have erupted on our streets demanding justice and an end to racism. The senseless and unjustifiable death of George Floyd in Minneapolis horrifies and offends the conscience of all good people. The indignation, outrage, and demands for societal change voiced by protesters are reasonable, understandable, and must be heeded. One of the most basic Catholic moral principles on which all of the Catholic moral theology and social justice doctrine is based is the dignity of the human person and the respect for all human life. Racism is contrary to these basic principles and must be opposed. In my homily on Pentecost Sunday, I stated that the Holy Spirit prompts us to speak the Good News, and that cries for Justice and Peace are likewise prompted by the Holy Spirit. I also said that ignorant, hateful, belligerent, insulting, and incendiary speech does not come from the Holy Spirit but rather from the Evil One. I believe every follower of Jesus must be in solidarity with those who seek and demand racial justice, who confront oppression and who seek reform of racist social structures. At the same time, those same Catholic moral principles impel us to promote peace, to oppose violence, and to denounce the unjustified and immoral infliction of injury and destruction of property. May the Holy Spirit enable the Church to speak prophetically in these times by courageously proclaiming the dignity of every human person and the sanctity of every human life.

Your Pastor,

Msgr. Stephan Moloney

Thank you for your continued support. We are grateful for your generosity.

We encourage those still using envelopes to either place them in the baskets located near the exits on your way out after Mass, mail them to the parish office or sign up for your bank's online bill pay service (please use your envelope number as the "account" number). Send to St. Andrew Parish, 1899 McCoy Rd., Columbus OH 43220.

St. Andrew Parish would like to thank the increasing number of families who are currently giving electronically. You may not see these fellow parishioners place an envelope in the basket every week, but their consistent giving does not go unnoticed in our parish office. Not only does it allow us to process the contributions quickly, but no physical contact is required. Each month our parish receives a steady and predictable stream of income from those donors who have made the commitment to give to God first by having a designated contribution automatically transferred to our parish through our Online Giving Program. If you would like to learn more about this easy, safe and secure way of giving, please visit Our Sunday Visitor at osvonlinegiving.com/4150. EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP

Recognize God in Your Ordinary Moments

We Are Never Alone

Where is that guy with the rainbow wig holding a “John 3:16” sign in the end zone at NFL football games? Younger readers may not have any idea what I am talking about! You used to see this guy on TV all the time wearing “Jesus Saves” shirts and holding his sign. Most thought he was a harmless guy, but now he is serving multiple life sentences for taking hostages at a hotel near LAX in 1992.

His name is Rollen Stewart and he believed — and continues to believe while in prison — that Jesus’ second coming is imminent. His extreme actions were meant to make people take notice and listen to him. Now he sits behind bars, and most in the world see his name as nothing more than an answer to a trivia question. It is a sad story when people hurt others or use extreme methods in the name of God. Mr. Stewart’s belief that simply getting people to listen to his message is the most important step in their salvation is misguided. His poor stewardship should stand in stark contrast to our good stewardship.

Our actions, seasoned at times with our words, should be the evidence people need to see the transformative power of Jesus Christ. We do believe that he is indeed coming again. But once you have committed yourself to him and live in his life on earth, when he returns is not our main concern. We are ready whenever that time comes, and hopefully, we can help others be ready as well by our example.

WHY DO WE DO THAT? Catholic Life Explained:

Question:

Why do Catholics have a pope?

Answer:

To answer the question of why Catholics have a pope, we have to pull the lens back and think about the very nature of the Church herself. According to the Nicene Creed (which is the statement of beliefs that we recite each Sunday at Mass), we profess that the Church is “one, holy, catholic, and apostolic.” These adjectives are called the marks of the Church, and they help us see that the Church is bigger than just our individual parish communities or even the Christians living in a particular region or country.

To help ensure that the community of disciples would remain united in a communion of love, Jesus entrusted the Apostles with special authority to teach, heal, and forgive sins in his name. And from among this group, Jesus chose Simon Peter to play a special role, designating him as the “rock” on which the Church was to be built (see Matthew 16:18-19; John 21:15-17). Peter “the Rock” became the visible sign of union within and among the Apostles. In time, as Peter and the other Apostles passed away, other men were chosen to take their place. The successors of St. Peter — who we honor as the first Bishop of Rome — and the successors of the other Apostles (the bishops) continued the work entrusted by Jesus to that first generation of Church leaders.

According to long-standing tradition, the successor of Peter was Linus, who was followed by Cletus, who was followed by Clement I, etc. This line of succession continues to Pope Francis in our own time. Over the centuries, these Bishops of Rome — who came to be known as the “pope” (from papa, which means “father” in Latin) — still continue to act as the “rock” of the Church and as the visible sign of unity for all the Catholic Christians. The pope, more than any other bishop, stands as the Church’s primary teacher and as pastor of the Church throughout the world, helping to ensure that the Church remains what Jesus intended her to be: one, holy, catholic, and apostolic. To learn more, see the “Catechism of the Catholic Church” (no. 857-862 and 880-882).

GOSPEL MEDITATION

Encourage Deeper Understanding of Scripture

Many of our Protestant brothers and sisters point to John 3:16 as must-memorize material: "God so loved the world that he gave his only-begotten Son, so that everyone who believes in him might not perish but might have eternal life." And, indeed, it's a great bit of Sacred Scripture to have on hand; it is a foundational element of the faith that those who believe in Christ have a proven path to Heaven.

John 3:17 – For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him. Christ does not want the world to suffer; John 3:17 makes clear that salvation is possible for the whole world. We should view this belief with an optimistic eye. We would have little use for a fire department whose goal was to limit destruction by fire to 30% of the city, leaving 70% of the town's structures and citizens to perish amid flames. When fire erupts, we hope that losses are minimal, and we do what we can to keep the fire's touch from inflicting too heavy a cost; any loss is lamentable. In the same way, we should not view Christianity with an eye to keeping our flock safe and stable in size; we should do what we can to spread the word to as much of the world as we can. God wants the whole world saved, and it falls to those of us outside of and within the fold to do what we can to make this happen.

John 3:18 – Whoever believes in him will not be condemned, but whoever does not believe has already been condemned, because he has not believed in the name of the only-begotten Son of God. Sometimes others view Christians as judgmental, but we aren't . . . not really. We are tellers of truth. A doctor who evaluates your condition and says, "You are going to die within a year" is not condemning you to death; the facts of your medical condition are condemning you to death. In a similar way, we as Christians are not judging nonbelievers to be denied Heaven; we are merely reporting the facts as we understand them. Again, there should not be any glee in our hearts at the prospect of nonbelievers being denied Heaven; we should remain ever humble in our hopes that those who have yet to see the light do so before it is too late.

John 3:19 – And this is the verdict, that the light came into the world, but people preferred darkness to light, because their works were evil. Namely, it points out that judgment is an ongoing concern; it's not something saved solely for future generations or some unknowable tomorrow. This is the verdict. People preferred darkness. We as Christians have chosen a lighter path, but at the time of the Crucifixion, the crowds wanted Barabbas, and there are still far too many people today who want Barabbas.

John 3:20 – For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come toward the light, so that his works might not be exposed. This is an interesting line. It points to wickedness as being much more active than we've generally believed. Of course, active disbelief is a sin (see 2123-2128 in the Catechism of the Catholic Church for a discussion of atheism and agnosticism, including this gem of a line: "Agnosticism is all too often equivalent to practical atheism"). But John 3:20 seems to really be drawing up the connection between those who "hate the light" and those who commit evil works.

John 3:21 – But whoever lives the truth comes to the light, so that his works may be clearly seen as done in God. And here we tie in this together. Namely, that this Gospel makes clear the intimate connection between faith and works. Those who commit evil deeds must hate the light. Those whose works are evil prefer darkness to light. Those who accept Christ want to do good works, "works . . . done in God."

Many of our Protestant friends say that works are not necessary, and that by faith alone we are saved. But if you read the fullness of this most beloved of Gospel selections, it's clear the association between works and deeds. It's true that we cannot "buy" our way into heaven with good deeds; rather, good deeds are a result of living a true, honest, considered life with Christ. And when we're trying to form lives with Jesus, performing Christ-focused good works can develop the discipline and habits needed to live as free from sin as we can.

Absolutely, accept Christ in your heart! And know that through Him salvation is possible. But it is in deeds that the light of Christ is brought into the world. So, then, may the truth of God's love for the world spur us to joy, to hope for salvation for all, and – perhaps most importantly – to action.

I LOVE
YOU
